Seattle, Washington.

Gentlemen:

Your report of fishery operations at Big Port Walter, Alaska, in 1917 shows that you packed 1,716,800 lbs. of pickled herring for food. Please advise this office at your early convenience whether the Scotch or Norwegian method of curing was followed. If both processes were employed, state the quantity and value of the pack by each.

Very truly yours,

H. M. Smith.

Commissioner.
